Metro Action Commission Prioritizes Help

Posted: Jan 4, 2009 08:59 PM CST

NASHVILLE, Tenn.- Big changes start Monday for people in Nashville who need help paying their mortgage and utility bills.

The Metropolitan Action Commission has received nearly 1,000 requests for help in the last 10 days. To help deal with the demand, they are dealing first with the people most at risk of being evicted or having their utilities cut off.

The Metro Action Commission is going to change its intake process for the time being to make sure people get the help they need as soon as possible. The Metro Action Commission expects to have served nearly 6,000 customers by mid January. That's more than the total number helped all last year.

A $3 million grant is paying for the help.
